Employee Side

In the Employee Side there are some things the employee is not allowed to do.

Here are the differences:

Sidebar

The employee is only allowed to view Products and the schedule of their store. They can also go in Setting to update their credentials.

In the Product Page, the employee can't create a new product. They can delete a product and update it just like in the admin side, go see above in the Product Page in admin side to view more details. They can also restore a deleted product from the view deleted page as well but they just can't add a new product to the table.

They also don't have access to the Category Page.

The screenshot shows a web application interface for 'Dépanneur du Souvenir'. The header bar is light gray and contains the site name on the left, a user greeting 'Hello, employee' and a language dropdown set to 'English' on the right, and a 'Logout' button in the top right corner. A hamburger menu icon is on the far left of the header. The main content area has a light purple background. It features a 'Settings' section with two input fields: 'Username' (containing 'employee') and 'Password' (empty). Below the password field is a small instruction: 'Enter new password if you wish to change it. Otherwise leave blank.' At the bottom of the settings section is an 'Update Credentials' button.
